

International Day of Peace 2021

Mr. Keun-mo Park

Mr. Keun-mo Park is a Ph.D. student in Cultural Anthropology at Nagoya University. He is interested in intercultural communication and cultural fusion and is particularly interested in cultural interaction and communication between Korea and Japan, an important axis of East Asia. In response to this research interest, cultural translation work on popular culture and food culture is the main keyword (theme). As doctoral thesis work, we are currently researching to identify the settlement process in Japan as a cultural translation process using Korean kimchi, which has been established through a long historical process in Japan as a material.
